Cyclist impaled on brake lever after accident

MICHAEL JARVIS

star@hertssexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW cyclist feels "extremely lucky" that she has the chance to recover after becoming impaled on part of her bike in a freak accident.

Celina Jacques, 27, of Fifth Avenue was preparing for a 100-mile ride to London and back in memory of relatives lost to cancer.

She was due to cycle next Saturday alongside friend Bonnie Bell, who witnessed the horror incident.

It occurred shortly before 7pm near the humpback bridge in Rye Street, Bishop's Stortford just three to four minutes into the duo's daily training ride.

Ms Jacques, pictured right, said: "I saw a car coming in the distance. I looked away and when I looked again it was a lot closer than I thought it would be. I started to panic; my brain just didn't think."

Ms Jacques clipped the curb and crashed into stinging nettles. Her right leg was stuck underneath the bike and her left was on top, the brake lever embedded in her thigh.

"At first I didn't feel it. I went to get up and I felt a pressure, which is when I looked at my leg. I screamed 'Help me, help me!'"

A woman in a BMW stopped to assist while a man directed traffic around her car. An off duty fireman then arrived.

An ambulance was on its way from Cheshunt, so he called his crew, striking over pensions at the time, to help.

They cut the bike's handlebars, but not the lever, and gave Ms Jacques pain-killing gas and air.

She was eventually taken to Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The fundraiser had to wait to see a specialist because of fears the lever had hit a crucial blood vessel, or be transferred to another hospital.

She chose to wait and a specialist arrived on Tuesday morning (July 15) and an operation to remove the lever took place soon after.

Ms Jacques, a cashier at HSBC, will remain at PAH until the end of this week. "It's been a life-changing experience and I've been extremely lucky," she said.

"I'm extremely grateful to everyone who stopped to help me, the emergency services and everyone at the hospital - they've been brilliant."

The ride to Kew Gardens and back, in aid of Cancer Research UK, will now be completed by Mrs Bell and her husband Martin.

Ms Jacques said: "I'm absolutely devastated [to miss out] but Bonnie's amazing. She saw me have this freak accident and she's still got the guts to do it. She's told me that she's doing it for me."

Mrs Bell, 28, lives with her husband, also 28, and daughter Sophia, 7, in Rye Street. It was decided the ride would take place around the time Mr Bell's uncle passed away from cancer.

Mrs Bell said: "He's not done much training, but he's positive and looking forward to it."

Two people arrested after sudden death

DETECTIVES investigating the circumstances surrounding the death of a woman in Harlow have arrested two people on suspicion of manslaughter.

Nicola Miles was found seriously ill inside a residential property in Brockles Mead shortly before 11pm on Monday, June 30. The 47-year-old local woman died a few days later at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Officers are awaiting the results of toxicology tests after a post-mortem examination was unable to reveal a cause of death.

These test results are due back in September.

An inquest into the death of Ms Miles has been opened and adjourned.

On Monday, a 30-year-old man from the town and a 30-year-old woman of no fixed address were arrested on suspicion of manslaughter.

Both have been released on bail pending further enquiries and will have to return to police on September 9.

Engineering college student is shortlisted for national award

A HARLOW College apprentice has been shortlisted for the south east final of the National Apprenticeship Awards.

Paige Tennison is studying a higher apprenticeship in manufacturing engineering at the University Centre Harlow and also works for Applied Scintillation Technologies.

The awards celebrate the achievements of the country's 'most outstanding' apprentices and apprenticeship employers. Miss Tennison, 19, said: "When I found out that I was a South East Unilever Higher Apprenticeship of the Year finalist, I didn't know what to do with myself, I could not believe it. "I am so happy and excited with this achievement. Being a finalist is the biggest achievement for me. Thank you to everyone who helped me achieve this."

Apprenticeship co-ordinator at Harlow College Jayne Browne said: "We have our fingers crossed for her and wish her well in the judge's selection."

Five warrants executed in operation into paedophiles

ESSEX Police executed five search warrants in Harlow after a series of raids in connection with a six-month operation into suspected paedophiles.

Essex Police were part of a group of more than 45 forces involved with the investigation coordinated by the National Crime Agency (NCA).

Essex Police worked with the NCA to execute 31 search warrants as part of Op Notarise. The warrants resulted in the arrest of 24 men on suspicion of the possession of indecent images of children.

Five warrants were also executed in Southend and Chelmsford, nine in Colchester, four in Basildon and three in Tendring. The suspects have been released on bail pending further enquiries.

DI Danny Stoten said: "Offenders need to know that the internet is not a safe anonymous space for accessing indecent images."

Halfon takes parking campaign to the PM

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PRIME Minister David Cameron and health secretary Jeremy Hunt have agreed to talks over hospital parking charges - in a major breakthrough for Harlow MP's campaign.

Tory MP Robert Halfon will raise the concerns of thousands of people in a meeting on Monday.

Mr Halfon, who took up the campaign after complaints from constituents, has urged residents to send in as many details of hospital rip-offs as possible, so he can show them to the PM.

Mr Halfon, pictured, said: "For many patients and the families, driving to hospital is an essential. Many people who live in rural areas, or have to travel to hospital during unconventional hours will be unable to use public transport."

"Added to this, many illnesses mean it is essential that people travel by car, for example cancer patients who are immunocompromised."

"Considering this, charging patients to park is a stealth tax on the sick - hitting them a time when they are often at their most vulnerable."

"It is great that David Cameron has agreed to a meeting to discuss the great hospital car park rip-off."

"The more people who can send in their stories, the more we can put pressure on our hospitals to stop this stealth tax on the most vulnerable."

More than 100 MPs are also backing calls for fees to be cut - fueling hopes the issue will be debated in the House of Commons.

Mr Halfon last month revealed that the Royal Free Hospital in Hampstead, north London charges £504 for parking.

In the east of England, 91 per cent of hospitals charge for car parking, compared to just under 80 per cent nationally.

The average charge for parking in the east of England is £2.11, whereas the average across England is £1.57.

Three-quarters of hospitals across the country rake in up to £4 and as much as £12 for four hours.

The Department of Health says that scrapping parking fees would cost the NHS £200m.

Jeremy Hunt has also confirmed he will hold talks on hospital car parking charges, amid pressure to end the "rip-off" of high fees.

The Health Secretary told MPs that parking costs at some hospitals "are just too high", adding he is happy to look at what can be done on the issue.

Conservative Robert Halfon (Harlow) had told Mr Hunt that nurses are paying an extra £200 a month and patients an extra £40 a week due to "ever-increasing" charges.

Mr Hunt replied: "I do share your concerns that the car parking charges in some hospitals are just too high."

"I understand hospitals have financial pressures, as do many parts of the system, but I am happy to talk to you at another stage about what specifically can be done on this issue."

Making cuts in the short-term will leave a legacy of neglect

SIR I read with dismay of the dire condition of Kingsmoor House, a building I remember from the 1980s when it had been splendidly refurbished inside and out.

Sadly it was neglected by successive councils who thought they were saving money. We have seen the same thing happen all over Harlow as important buildings have been allowed to deteriorate to the point where it is deemed cheaper to demolish them.

Over the years we have lost the pitch and putt course in the Town Park, we have lost our paved footways, replaced to save money by drab Tarmac. For a while The Playhouse was closed, leading to all the local theatrical and musical groups moving elsewhere, not to mention the young people who used to meet there regularly on Saturdays. None of these came back when it re-opened.

Now the council is planning a further dumbing down of what was once our new town, disguised as an exercise in local democracy.

The prudent houseowner doesn't save money by ignoring a roof leak or rotten timber. Neither does the car owner save money by ignoring a funny noise. It is the job of the council to look after our interests. That means looking after the town and all its facilities.

If it costs money, it will be money well spent and will, in the long run, benefit us all as Harlow becomes increasingly desirable as a place to live. When someone is buying a house they look for a town that is well maintained, carefully landscaped and has a wide range of facilities for young and old. If they do not find them the value of the property in that town will decline.

Unfortunately our councillors seem to be more interested in finding out what will be most popular in the short term, thereby getting a few extra votes, than they are in reversing the downward trend of recent years.

The message is clear. Make short-term cuts now and we will all pay for them later. Spend more now and not only will we see the immediate benefit but we won't leave a legacy of neglect for the future.

Why are we still waiting for results of M11 consultations?

SIR As a resident of Old Harlow living close to the apparently doomed Gilden Way and also as a member of Harlow Civic Society, I am concerned to know why Essex County Council, and MP Robert Halfon have not let us know the results of their separate consultations on the proposed M11 junction 7A.

Mr Halfon sent out glossy postcards all over Harlow several months ago asking for feedback on the proposal while strongly hinting that the Gilden Way option was the only realistic candidate and the only one approved by Essex.

Two different consultation documents produced by Essex County Council, meanwhile, had to be withdrawn when it was pointed out that they gave no opportunity for those opposed to Gilden Way to say 'no'. It seems they have been racking their brains ever since, determined to find a way of allowing dissent.

I have heard rumours that the results of Mr Halfon's survey indicated that about 70 per cent of those replying were against the Gilden Way proposal. Surely it can't be difficult to count up 'fors' and 'against's'? Harlow Civic Society could help to draw up a fair consultation document and count Mr Halfon's replies if necessary.

Decline in driving standards is just a reflection of society

SIR I share John Storey's concerns about the decline in driving standards in Harlow (Star, July 3).

It has been going on for a while, perhaps ever since what appears to be a unilateral relaxation of the requirement to give way anywhere along First/Fourth Avenue. Nobody is prepared to wait any more; just pull out and make the other cars stop in the order of the day. Any day and any time.

Ironically the worst place of all is the hospital entrance/exit. Leave any more than a 20-metre gap as you approach from Pinnacles and somebody will fill it.

I am not talking about buses or other such vehicles that we should all be giving way to. I am probably referring to the same people as Mr Storey - the drivers of cars in which indicators do not work but mobiles do and drivers who see the right hand lane at roundabouts as a legitimate way to push in front of a queue going straight over. They will even turn left from that right lane on occasions.

However I am not sure that this a police matter. Sadly it seems to me to be more a reflection of society as a whole and an increasing unwillingness of some people to properly consider others.

The term selfie seems to mean much more than just a photograph.

Roden Close, Old Harlow

How can we find out more if we don't have the internet?

SIR I have just received a copy of the summer edition of the Harlow Times produced by Harlow Council and I am concerned about a number of items that concern senior citizens.

These are the changes to the way we all register to vote, the review of polling stations, opening your door to the council or its contractors, supported housing, careline and recycling.

Every one of these is important to the elderly but if they wish to find out more they have to have access to the internet. Do the officers who think this all up actually believe that everyone is on the internet?

They have not given a telephone number for people to contact them, or are they going to give everyone a tablet like they have supplied to councillors?

Unfortunately a lot of elderly people do not have the internet because of cost. I did until about a year or so ago when I was having trouble with my emails and was told my computer was too old and I should get a new one.

So I closed my broadband account and went back to speaking to people on the phone. All I ask is for Harlow Council not to treat everybody the same.

Church Langley 'villagers' need to embrace their town

SIR I noted with interest the letter from Roger McAlpine (Star, June 19) regarding the definition of a village and giving an address as Church Langley (just outside Harlow).

I was surprised that Church Langley was outside Harlow seeing as everyone else I know who lives in Harlow would consider Church Langley as part of the town.

I've done some checking and, indeed, Church Langley is one of the 10 wards of Harlow Council and is served by Harlow's Member of Parliament. Taxes are paid to Harlow Council while the Church Langley medical practice, pharmacy, pub and Tesco store all list that they are based in Harlow. The post office lists the CM17 postcode as Harlow.

As you drive down the A414 to get to Church Langley you pass the 'Harlow Town' boundary sign.

Therefore, I conclude that Church Langley is, in fact, within Harlow. I would like to say from one Harlow resident to another - welcome to Harlow; embrace your town.

Helen Cleary
address supplied

SIR It seems rather ironic to me that in his letter) Roger McAlpine states that Church Langley is a village when the whole area that Harlow covers was once a collection of villages and that the actual village of Burnt Mill was destroyed to make way for the area around what is now Harlow Town station.

Our Sunday afternoon at pub was ruined by defecating dog

SIR We visited The Moorhen on a lovely Sunday afternoon. Sadly it was ruined by a large dog from a nearby moored boat, defecating next to our table.

A waitress took note and stood next to the pile until the animal's owner surfaced to clear it up and then heaved it into the river a few feet away. This is completely unacceptable in such a public place where food is served and children play.

I am a dog owner but even as a paying customer I wouldn't allow my dog to roam freely among the tables, let alone use it as a toilet. There needs to be a clearer border between moorings and the pub's dog.

A few lines of poetry to mark centenary of First World War

SIR I thought I would share with your readers my poem written to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the start of First World War.

It's time to remember, it's time to commemorate those brave souls, so many sent to their graves. Our men, our women, military and civilian volunteers and conscripts proud to do their bit

Willing to face the might of opposing armies knowing that they may make the ultimate sacrifice knowing that their faith may not save them, with families back home left worrying alone

So many killed, so many maimed, so many lost, so many doing what's right for King and Country. But for them who knows where we would be now. Giving everything to protect us, that's you and me

One hundred years on do we learn?

Onesie charity walk kickstarts chairman's fundraising

ALL FOR ONE AND ONE FOR ALL: Fundraisers dress in their onesies to raise money for three good causes in Harlow

A GROUP of onesie-wearing fundraisers have raised £200 for three of the town's charities.

Harlow Council chairman Ian Beckett decided to hold the onesie walk, which started off at Passmores Academy and finished at Harlow Museum, as part of his fundraising for his three chosen charities No Child Without, The Chocolate Run and the Gibberd Garden.

The youngest walker was just 21 months old with the eldest being 79 and all donned their onesies for charity.

"I was delighted by the turnout," Cllr Beckett said. "There was a really good atmosphere and Harlow Museum were really welcoming when we got to the other end of our walk.

"I wanted to do something different to raise money for my chosen charities but also wanted to remind residents that the cycle tracks are not just for bikes and that there are some really pleasant walks you can do around Harlow."

The money raised from the onesie walk will be added to Cllr Beckett's other fundraising events throughout the following year and will be divided equally between the three charities in the spring next year.

Ambulance hold ups 'putting lives at risk'

AMBULANCES in the east of England are taking almost three minutes longer to reach patients in a life-threatening condition compared to three years ago, figures compiled by the Labour party show.

Official NHS figures show that Category A ambulance callouts - where a life is threatened - are taking 67 seconds longer on average to reach patients when compared to May 2011.

In the east of England, ambulances took an average 2.8 minutes longer to respond to the most serious calls.

Labour's parliamentary hopeful for Harlow, Suzy Stride, places blame with hospital A&E departments for missing Government's waiting time targets for "the last 51 weeks running".

She added: "This crisis in A&E has trapped ambulances in queues outside hospitals - leaving the next caller facing longer, agonising waits."

For callers receiving a Category A response from an ambulance service,

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

speed is important. The chances of surviving cardiac arrest decrease by 10 per cent with each minute that passes.

The British Heart Foundation and the Stoke Association have warned that delays put lives at risk.

Dr Dale Webb, director of research and information at the Stoke Association, said: "Lengthening ambulance times are concerning because stroke patients need to get to specialist treatment as soon as possible. The quicker someone arrives at a specialist stroke unit the quicker they should receive the right treatment and the more likely they are to make a better recovery."

Ms Stride added: "For people who've suffered cardiac arrest or a stroke, every second counts and that is why this slump in standards cannot continue."

"Urgent action is needed from the Government to turn things around."

East of England Ambulance Service Trust Chief Executive Dr Anthony Marsh joined the trust in January and identified and set out six key priorities to turn it around.

He said: "We are putting more staff on the front line and reducing the number of cars to increase the number of ambulances."

"We are recruiting 400 student paramedics by April 2015, the first group of which are already working from ambulance stations across the region, as well as up-skilling our existing emergency medical technicians and emergency care assistants."

"Additional ambulances are also on the road, and we launched a replacement programme to ensure no ambulance in our fleet is older than five years by next spring."

"These actions are starting to make a difference."

Recycling rates fall following county-wide trend

RECYCLING and composting rates in Harlow have fallen in line with an Essex-wide trend according to the latest figures from the county council.

Cllr Roger Walters, cabinet member for waste and recycling, said: "Recycling rates in Essex and nationally are falling but it remains as important as ever to carry on recycling.

"Essex has a growing population. As landfill space reduces and cost for waste disposal increases we all need to try and avoid waste, and to recycle and reuse so that money can be spent on delivering valued services rather than landfill tax."

"There is no excuse for not recycling in Essex as we make it easy for everyone to do so."

Between April 2012 and March 2013, the waste recycled in Harlow was 48.4 per cent, compared to 66.7 per cent in best-performing Rochford and 29.8 per cent in bottom of the pile Tendring. However in the following 12 months, the total for Harlow dropped to 47.02 per cent.

Although Essex is continuing to recycle more than the national average, recycling rates are starting to fall and the amount of waste is increasing. The totals for all waste collection authorities across Essex fell from 50.29 per cent to 49.85 per cent over the same period. A large proportion of waste can be recycled, including bottles, cans, plastics,

Jack Petchey awards honour young people

THE Jack Petchey Foundation honoured young performers and sportspeople in a ceremony at Harlow Playhouse.

The Harlow Youth Achievement Awards celebrated the best young performers and sport club members in the town.

All winners were nominated by their peers and were named winners at the ceremony for a variety of achievements.

Winners received a medallion, framed certificate and a cheque for £200.

Seven performing arts groups received awards - including Harlow Steelband, Phoenix Theatre School, Hip Hop Pop, Harlow Rock School, Razed Roof, Livewire, and Harlow Ballet Association.

Members from seven youth groups - including Harlow Young Carers, Hanco Ryo School of Karate, Batts Table Tennis Club, Crosskeys Netball Club, Risdenwood FC, Harlow Town Cricket Club and All Ability Sports and Leisure were also named as winners.

Many of the groups also performed during the evening which was attended by Harlow MP Robert Halfon.

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

Mr Halfon said: "I love presenting these awards and it is something I hope I never miss. Our young people are the best and the future of Harlow."

"I thank Jack Petchey for giving these young people a chance to show Harlow as the cultural capital of the east of England."

The Jack Petchey Foundation was established in 1999 to recognise the positive contributions young people make to society and to support them in achieving their potential.

Youth groups in Harlow have been awarded £530,000 by the Jack Petchey Foundation since funding started in 2001.

Founder, Jack Petchey CBE, 88, said: "I am passionate about our awards scheme which enables young people to be recognised, valued and rewarded for their achievements and positive contributions to society."

"All those receiving awards are a credit to themselves, their families and their club or youth programme."

Adventurous students prep for Africa trip

A YEAR 11 group from Burnt Mill Academy in Harlow are preparing for the adventure of a lifetime when they set off to Accra in Ghana later this month.

To prepare for the trip, which will see the students hike through Kakum national rainforest, climb Mount Afadjato as well as take part in a community project, the group climbed Mount Snowdon.

Ghana expedition school co-ordinator Andrew Scott said: "The team-building exercise to climb Mount Snowdon was part of our fundraising plan."

"More importantly, it was designed as a group bonding exercise to build group cohesion, promote fitness and endurance, as well as encourage perseverance."

Dennis Dogbe, country co-ordinator in Ghana, said: "Everyone is so happy about welcoming Burnt Mill students and staff to our community. The children cannot wait."

Woman, 79, dies and two hurt in crash

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

INVESTIGATIONS into the cause of a fatal road crash on the M11 are continuing.

A 79-year-old woman from Halifax, West Yorkshire, died when the car in which she was a passenger left the carriageway last Thursday (July 10).

A 72-year-old man, who was driving the car, and a woman, 81, who was front seat passenger, were both seriously injured and are still receiving treatment in hospital. They are both from the Retford area of Nottinghamshire.

The crash happened on the south-bound carriageway at about 3.30pm.

The car, a silver Vauxhall Astra estate, was travelling south when it was involved in a slight collision with a heavy goods vehicle travelling in the same direction. The car then left the road and collided with trees.

The road was closed until about 10.30pm for recovery of the vehicles and while police carried out initial investigations.

Police are appealing for witnesses to the accident.

Any witnesses who have not contacted police or anyone with information about events leading to the collision, should call Sgt Damon Bainbridge at the Essex Police Serious Collision Investigation Unit on 101 or email collisionappeal@essex.pnn.police.uk.

The accident follows several incidents this years on the stretch of motorway between junctions seven (Harlow) and five (Loughton).

Earlier this month there was a car fire between junction six (M25) and junction five (Loughton) and prior to that an overturned lorry caused a chemical spill between Bishop's Stortford and Harlow causing hours of delays.

The 25-metre section of the south-bound carriageway and the gulleys of the northbound carriageway were covered with a chemical foam and the road was closed overnight.

Youngsters learn more about the world with cafe

JEROUNDS Primary School hosted a world cafe as part of their classes learning more about countries around the world.

Each class at the Pyenest Road school picked a country to learn more about, including the country's geography, culture, food, and language.

Children learnt about Spain, Pakistan, Japan, Brazil, Turkey and Poland.

Geography teacher at Jerounds Primary, Ghazi Tanna, said: "We do 'around the world' every year and it is always a success.

"Our children have two weeks of learning about a different country which we always try to relate to someone in the class."

She added: "Key Stage 1 pupils all took part and the cafe helps with what the children have learnt in their first week about food.

"Teachers and children make something related to the country they have been learning about to then offer at the world cafe.

"We make enough for all 180 children so everyone can try a bit of everything.

"The children loved it."

Fundraisers host Help for Heroes charity match

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Police will be going head-to-head with the RAF Police team in a football match for Help for Heroes.

The football match is just one of a range of activities to be held at The Link, Parsloe Road, as part of the fun day.

PCSO Stuart Burt, who manages the police football team - Harlow LPA Football Club (formerly known as Harlow Police FC), decided to host the fundraising day in aid of Help for Heroes after being invited to play against the RAF.

Co-organiser Jen Webb's son, who does not want to be named, is currently deployed in Afghanistan as an apache pilot in the armed forces.

"Jen already does collections for Help for Heroes and she asked if we would consider fundraising for the charity," Stuart said.

"Normally we would focus on local causes but Help for Heroes is a fantastic charity and as the RAF got in touch with us to play a game we thought it worked well."

The fun day will also host two junior football matches, a barbeque, bar, and music. Face painting, raffle, and a bouncy castle will also be available.

"It's all about hosting a really good family fun day and raising money for a fantastic charity."

"The UK armed forces do a fantastic job and we are very much looking forward to the day."

The free event is on Saturday, July 26 from 1pm.

Hair-raising Macmillan fun day

A SALON owner decided to celebrate her business' first anniversary with a charity day for Macmillan Cancer Fund.

Gemma Haines, of Deer Park, opened Reflectionz, a unisex hair salon in Pollard Hatch, last year and decided to host a fundraising day for the cancer charity as part of her first anniversary celebrations.

It was the first charity event hosted by Reflectionz and organised by Gemma.

The 33-year-old was able to raise £200 for Macmillan from the event.

"We hosted a coffee morning with a lunch buffet and raffle," Gemma said.

"I offered free cuts and blow dries for Macmillan and cancer nurses but unfortunately none attended so I donated half my wages instead."

"It was the salon's first year anniversary and some of my clients have had treatment for cancer or had relatives that have passed away due to cancer."

"I just wanted to do something worthwhile to acknowledge all the good work that Macmillan do for patients and their relatives."

She added: "The day went really well and I'm keen to hold another charity event next year."

Young actor hopes to be a big star in future

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A YOUNG actor has tackled his biggest role to date - alongside Minnie Driver and Rebecca Ferguson and is keen to keep working hard.

Zen Rapley, seven, of Bynghams, Harlow has been spending time in Morocco to film The Red Tent, a two-part American series based on a biblical story.

The Epping Upland School pupil, who plays football and tennis, signed up to an agency when he was six years old after deciding to get a job to buy a £75 football kit.

Mum Heidi Rapley, 42, who works for the London Ambulance Service, said: "Zen is with an agency called Bonnie and Betty and it all started with photo work."

"He wanted a football kit that was too expensive and I said 'you have to get a job for something like that' and that's how it started."

Since signing to Bonnie and Betty, Zen has been fitting in filming with his schoolwork

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION: Zen Rapley and his mum Heidi

and Heidi says he loves being in front of the camera.

"He absolutely loves it and he loved filming in Morocco."

"He has told me he cannot wait until he is nine so he can do longer hours on set."

"I'm very proud of him, the whole family is as the feedback I get is always really positive about how easy he is to work with. He loves every second on set."

In the series, Zen plays a young Prince. He said: "I find it really fun getting to meet new people and it is fun doing what the director asks you to do and fitting in with all the actors."

"Both modelling and acting are really good but I probably prefer acting as there is more movement."

"My school friends and family are all really supportive of me."

Zen, a big Star Wars fan, added: "I want to be a big movie star when I'm older."

Court summons for travellers

A GROUP of travellers parked up on Coldharbour Road were served with a court summons on Tuesday by Essex County Council.

A number of caravans have been on Coldharbour Road - land owned by ECC - since last week.

An ECC spokesman said: "A direction to leave notice was issued to the travellers on July 10. Having failed to comply with this direction, an application was made to the courts for a court order to repossess the land and move the travellers on."

Residents' bid for speed limit cut

WATERHOUSE Moor Residents' Association is hoping to change the speed limit in their area from 30mph to 20mph.

Speed trials over the past three months have found that mean speeds were around 22mph but the group believe drivers were aware of the checks and slowed down as a result.

The residents' association claim vehicles often speed through the 30mph zone at speeds exceeding 50mph.

Now the group are hoping to take up the issue with Essex County Council.

Kew Vets offers pet owners a first class friendly service

KEW Vets is a friendly, caring veterinary practice with a reputation for first class service.

With branches in Harlow, Bishop's Stortford, Sawbridgeworth and Ongar, these vets are willing to go the extra mile for your pet. You can rest assured you and your pet will receive the best attention at all times.

Responsible pet owners know the advantages of neutering. Not only does it dramatically reduce the number of stray animals, the cost of neutering is far cheaper than the cost of raising puppies or kittens for a year.

Neutering can also help reduced the incidence of some of the common types of cancers, helping your pet to live longer and healthier.

The term 'spay' refers to removing a female's ovaries and uterus so she cannot reproduce. Castrate refers to removing a male's testicles so he cannot reproduce.

Castration often causes pets to be less aggressive and reduces the risk of wandering. It also reduces the likelihood of large vet bills due to unruly behaviour and the cost of complicated pregnancies (for example with caesareans) can run into thousands of pounds.

Contrary to some opinion, there is no medical evidence to suggest that it is beneficial for cats and dogs to have a litter before neutering. In fact neutering helps fight over population;
there are already too many pets and not enough homes.

A female cat can produce six kittens, three times a year.

neutering your pet, call Kew Vets on

Lib Dems 'call in' council's expenses decision

LIBERAL Democrats at Essex County Council have called in the decision not to pursue Lord Hanningfield in the civil courts.

Essex County Council's audit committee recommended no further action should be taken against the former leader over cash he claimed from the authority.

ECC leader, councillor David Finch accepted the recommendation not to pursue legal action to recover nearly £51,000 but called on the peer to "do the right thing" and pay back the money the council says he owes Essex taxpayers. Leader of the Liberal Democrat group, councillor Mike Mackrory said: "I called in this decision because I believe we owe it to the council taxpayers of Essex to scrutinise this decision."

"There is an overwhelming public interest here for justice to be seen to be done; the £51,000 originally claimed back is a token amount out of the £288,000 claimed by him whilst Leader of the council."

"Why should he get away with this when people who are in arrears with their council tax or people who have committed fraud against the council are relentlessly pursued through the courts?"

"Why is there one rule for Lord Hanningfield and another for ordinary people?"

Key decisions may be 'called in' for reconsideration and once the request is received, a meeting of the relevant scrutiny committee is called.

The decision is then referred to full council or back to the decision-making body.

Councillor's bid to improve road defects in ward

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A UKIP councillor is calling on County Hall to repair 'huge' potholes in his ward filled and described new statistics showing a fall in road defects as 'laughable'.

Councillor Dan Long, one of three councillors for the Bush Fair ward, along with resident Harry Saunders say Essex County Council are not fixing the potholes in Brays Mead and Longfield.

Some of the potholes, which have all been reported to ECC, are five inches deep according to Cllr Long.

"I reported the potholes to Essex County Council and they said they would look into it," he said.

"But they were left and left and when I called again they said the engineer had been out and said it was possible to avoid them and it wasn't a priority road."

"It's nonsense, you cannot avoid those potholes because of their position on the road and they way they have developed means you have to drive onto the other side of the road to avoid them which is dangerous."

Essex County Council released quarterly figures last week which showed that potholes, cracks and other defects have reduced by 20 per cent on Essex's main roads since April this year.

Road defects have fallen from 1,280 to 1,073 on Priority 1 roads and from 3,296 to 2,590 on Priority 2 roads according to the figures.

The statistics also reveal that defects requiring work on local roads rose from 11,674 to 12,972 and more than 8,300 defects have been repaired across the three networks over the last three months.

County councillor Rodney Bass, cabinet member for highways and transportation, said: "This is excellent news following a prolonged period of intensive work to bring Essex's priority routes up to the standard our residents expect."

"We wish to build on this success and that is why we have 20 extra four-man crews on the roads aiming to fix all current carriageway defects on the Priority 1, Priority 2 and rural local road networks by March 31, 2015.

"We are also aiming to tackle the worst 700 urban local roads during this period, dealing not only with carriageway work but also with pavements, drains, curbs and other street furniture."

But Cllr Long described the figures as "laughable".

"It isn't just the roads in desperate need of repair but the pavements too. Harry had a measuring device and some potholes were five inches deep and one was so big, that the device was too small to measure it accurately."

"[The state of roads and pavements] is a concern, especially for those driving and walking after dark coming back from work when the lights are switched off."

Paddling pools set to open for summer season

WITH the school summer holidays due to start next week, Harlow Council has announced the town's paddling pools' opening days.

The town has five council-run paddling pools at Bush Fair, Norman Booth, Staple Tye, Sumners and Harlow Town Park as well as the splash park at Potter Street.

The pools at Sumners and the Town Park are set to open on Saturday, July 19 with the remaining paddling pools and the splash park will open on Wednesday, July 23.

All pools and the splash park will stay open until Sunday, August 31.

The pools are free to use and are open seven days a week from 10am-6pm depending on weather conditions. Although there is an attendant on site to maintain the pool during opening hours, all children must be accompanied and supervised by an adult.

The pools can close temporarily, residents are advised to check the council website for the latest information at www.harlow.gov.uk/paddling-pools.

THE community of Harlow will come together next month to mark 100 years since the start of the First World War.

As part of the centenary commemorations, there will be a rededication of the Potter Street Memorial on Monday, August 4 with all residents invited to attend.

The Royal British Legion will lead the service and a brass band will perform. Harlow Council deputy chairman, councillor Tony Hall will also attend.

Hymns and prayers will also form part of the services and new names will be added to the Potter Street Memorial.

Refreshments will be provided at St Mary Magdalene's Church after the service.

As well as a rededication of the memorial there will also be a chance for reflection and thanksgiving for residents.

To mark the centenary Reverend Martin Harris, of the First World War memorial project, is hoping to speak to anyone with links to those who fought in the First World War who were from the Potter Street area in the early 1900s.

Did you buy a pram from C. & E. Webb?

HARLOW was dubbed a pram town in the early 1950's due to the influx of young families moving from London.

Photos of Broad Walk filled with mothers and their traditional prams can be found at Harlow Museum and Nostalgia wants to find out more about C. & E. Webb who catered for the demand. C. & E. Webb specialised in prams and cycles and had two stores in Harlow - one at The Stow and another in The High. >> Do you remember the shop or did you buy a pram there? If so, share your photos and memories with Nostalgia by calling (01279) 400577.

Rugby club's plans on hold

HARLOW Rugby Club has withdrawn its planning applications for a new home at Latton Farm in Harlow.

Writing on the club website, chairman Alan Brooking said: "In my last update I said that we had submitted our plans and that we expected to go to a planning meeting in June, unfortunately there are a number of further issues raised that means that planning have had to submit their report with a less than favourable outcome or we would have got the permission but with a load of unworkable conditions."

"We have also received two major objections, which require a significant amount of work to deflect. "We have therefore withdrawn the application."

The club, based on Ram Gorse, Elizabeth Way, withdrew the application on Friday, July 4 and have said that it will not extend the expected start time on the site, which is still set for January/February 2015.

The proposals were part of a public consultation in February this year which showed plans for two developments - residential housing at Elizabeth Way and a new rugby club pavilion, pitches and other facilities at Latton Farm in Second Avenue.

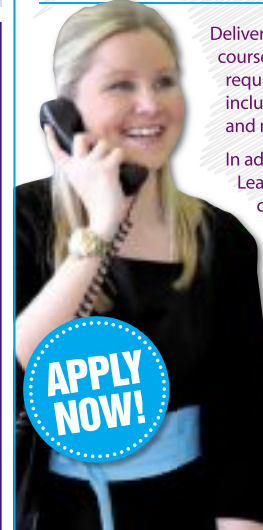

Concerns were raised at the time about access to the site on Elizabeth Way and the impact on traffic levels.

Mr Brooking added: "We are very confident that we can settle the planners concerns and overcome all the objections received. We will resubmit the applications in 2-3 weeks, under a Planning Framework Agreement, which guarantees a degree of support from the planners plus set in concrete the planning application meeting, currently in September."

State-of-the-art science hub planned for GSK site

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

PUBLIC Health England is recommending that its national science hub be moved from laboratories in Wiltshire to the former GlaxoSmithKline campus in Harlow.

The move – which has been mooted for several years – would bring millions of pounds of investment to the town.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon welcomed the announcement last Wednesday which follows a year of discussions with the deputy chief executive for PHE and lead for the Science Hub programme Richard Gleave and PHE chief executive Duncan Selbie.

PHE announced that it would recommend moving the Science Hub programme from its current base in Porton Down near Salisbury to the New Frontiers Science Park in Harlow.

Mr Halfon said: "Since I have been Harlow's MP I have been working hard to do everything possible to get Public Health England to move to Harlow, including having debates in the House of Commons, meeting with ministers and tabling parliamentary motions."

The decision was made following the consideration of seven different options, ranging from "do nothing" to "co-locate key science function in Harlow".

In a letter to Mr Halfon, Mr Selbie wrote: "The ambition is to provide a modern campus and facilities for the nation's public health science, but this can only ever be realised if we retain and can attract the world's best scientists and researchers."

Under the recommendation the programme's support services will be moved to Harlow as well as PHE's headquarters while maintaining a central London base.

Mr Halfon said: "The announcement is a huge step forward."

Mr Selbie wrote that the move would be a "long programme" and "the current estimate is 2021 for completion following commissioning and validation of new-build laboratory facilities".

The Department of Health and HM Treasury will now be assessing the options and PHE's recommendation and a decision is expected by the end of September.

Leader of Harlow Council, Cllr Jon Clempner, said: "This is an extremely positive development for Harlow as it will increase the number of high quality science and research jobs in the town. Harlow is a science-led town and this will add to that status and contribute to the Enterprise Zone developments in the town."

"A Science Hub links perfectly with MedTech and will increase the attractiveness of the town for businesses in the science and health sector."

Voluntary arrangements for affordable debt repayments

AN Individual Voluntary Arrangement or IVA is designed to relieve the pressure on a debtor and allow him or her to make affordable repayments towards debts. At the end of the IVA the remaining debt is written off.

However, there are conditions such as the minimum payment each month towards debts should be at least £100. Applicants should also have a regular income from employment or a pension.

IVAs are suitable for homeowners as, unlike most bankruptcies, selling the property is not compulsory.

There is no limit on the amount of debt but it normally needs to be unsecured debt owed to two or more creditors totalling at least £10,000. There are fees and running costs which vary depending on the complications of the case.

It is best to choose an IVA provider who does not charge upfront fees and spreads them over a prolonged period. Fees are normally included in the monthly payments. There are commercial firms who advertise that they can get a large percentage of your debt written off but you may have to pay up front for their services. Some charities provide IVA services. It is important to approach a reputable provider.

How it works

A "nominee" lists your debts and calculates how much you can afford to repay per month.

A meeting of creditors is arranged and the details are put to them; the meeting is often online rather than face-to-face. They vote on whether to accept the IVA and their voting value depends on what proportion of the debt is owed to each creditor.

If the vote is 75 per cent in favour then the IVA is set up for all creditors. A 'supervisor' then organises the IVA, collecting payments from the debtor and distributing it to creditors.

If all goes to plan, normally after five years the IVA ends and the remaining debt is written off. If you own property you have to try and re-mortgage so any money raised can help pay your debts.

If you can't, you may have to continue payments for another year.

If your circumstances get worse and you cannot afford the payments, the IVA may fail and you may be made bankrupt.

Taking out an IVA can disadvantage some professionals such as accountants and solicitors. Before applying for an IVA, seek advice.

Harlow Advice Centre is based on the first floor of Harlow Central Library in The High. Telephone (01279) 704002 or email admin@harlowac.org.uk. Opening hours are Monday noon-2pm and Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 10am-2pm. Out of hours appointments are available if necessary.

Firefighters given awards for work with youngsters

TWO members of the Essex County Fire and Rescue Service from Harlow were among those who have been recognised for their work with young people.

The fire service's first Children and Young People Awards were held to celebrate the achievements of young people and the ECFRS youth team and its partners who share skills and experience to turn around the lives of young people from all backgrounds.

Among those to receive an award was lead youth instructor Peter Mountier, who lives in Harlow and works at the Kelvedon Park headquarters. He received the inspirational leadership award.

Firefighter Michael Jakes, who is based at Harlow fire station, was presented with the damsel in distress award in recognition of his participation in youth training courses training on how to rescue a person.

Mr Jakes also received a Firebreak dedication award. Deputy Chief Fire Officer Adam Eckley said:

"Thousands of young people have used our schemes as a springboard to success, taking the lessons they have learned from our team of dedicated instructors and applying them to their lives in a positive way."

If action had been taken our daughter might still be alive

Razed Roof fun run raises £400

MEMBERS and supporters of performing arts company Razed Roof donned fancy dress to take part in a fun run.

The group of more than 20 walkers completed 20 laps of the track at the Mark Hall Sports Centre in Harlow, raising in excess of £400.

The group, for people with and without disabilities, regularly perform at Harlow Playhouse and provide a range of theatre workshops within the town and the surrounding area.

Barbara Lazarus, chairwoman of the fundraising committee, said:

"Our annual fun run sees people dressing up and enjoying the exercise, whether they run, jog or walk and it's all for a very good cause."

"Catherine Ridge, who ran the London Marathon for our charity last year, has encouraged friends from the Harlow Running Club to get involved and more people have been asking if they can get involved next year."

"We are delighted at the way Razed Roof is embraced and supported by the local community."

AN official report into the death of a heavily-pregnant teenager who was murdered by her former boyfriend has revealed opportunities that may have saved her were missed.

Tony McLernon, 24, is serving a life sentence for killing Eystna Blunnie, 19, in Harlow in June 2012.

The Safer Harlow Partnership found there were many signs Ms Blunnie was in danger before she was fatally attacked. It recommended agencies should work together better to share information about high risk adults.

The report investigated the build up to Miss Blunnie's death and McLernon's history with mental health service providers.

It referred to an incident two months before Miss Blunnie - who was nine months pregnant - was murdered in which McLernon had squeezed her by the throat until she could not breathe, threatening he would kill her.

McLernon sent Ms Blunnie a text message telling her he had a surprise for her. Essex Police sought advice from the Crown Prosecution Service on whether he could be charged with an offence.

At the time the CPS decided there was not enough evidence but later admitted that decision was wrong.

The report's author, Jackie Sully, said no-one could be sure if prosecuting McLernon would have changed the course of events leading to Miss Blunnie's death.

However, she said she was concerned that agencies involved in domestic violence cases did not share information internally or with other organisations.

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"If nobody is getting the bigger picture, how on earth can you take steps to prevent what sometimes seems inevitable?" she said.

Following publication of the report, Miss Blunnie's father Kevin said he believed his daughter would still be alive if McLernon had been prosecuted earlier.

"For that mistake, we lost our daughter and granddaughter," he said. "In our hearts we feel had action been taken at that point, it would have made a difference."

An Essex Police spokesman said: "We acknowledge the findings of this review and we have worked hard to address the recommendations that have been made."

"We are committed to improving the police and partnership working that underpins the effective combating of domestic abuse."

The CPS has yet to comment.

Taking flight with a giant of the sky

THIRTY years after the fossilised remains of an enormous seabird were found in America, scientists have said they now believe it was the largest bird ever to have flown.

The creature, which lived 25 million years ago, would have been five times the size of a seagull and twice the size of the Californian condor and albatross - currently the world's largest living birds. Its wingspan - the measurement between the tips of its wings - was between six and 7.4 metres.

It is believed it would have spent flying above the oceans, swooping down to catch fish.

Its long, slender wings and light, hollow bones would have allowed it to glide on currents of air without the need to flap its wings.

Daniel Ksepka, curator of science at the Bruce Museum in Connecticut, told reporters: "It is likely it could glide at speeds over 10m per second. That's faster than the human world record for the 100m dash."

Although graceful in flight, it is probable that it was less so on land.

"The long wings would have been cumbersome and it would have probably spent as little time as possible walking around," said Dr Ksepka.

And when it came to taking off, computer models show it might have had to waddle downhill and hope to catch a gust of air!

SCHOOL'S OUT FOR SUMMER

IT'S that time of year again. Schools are breaking up and the long summer break, with weeks of unbroken sunshine and cloudless skies, lie ahead.

The weather might not be quite so predictable but the first morning of the first day of the summer holidays should open up a vista as empty of obligations as it is full of possibilities.

Holidays might be difficult for working parents trying to juggle the balance of childcare and careers but they are important for recharging batteries and enjoying some quality family time together.

It's easy to feel under pressure to spend money during the holidays but often the best memories come from the things that cost the least. It's about spending time with each other and enjoying the break from routine.

If you find yourself with a few spare hours this summer (and let's face it, who won't?) why not have a few ideas up your sleeve in preparation. Fore warned is fore armed!

If it's warm, a little bit of water play always goes down a treat. Why not spend an afternoon water balloon bombing? Buy a couple of bags of

Singer makes album with stars

A MUSICIAN from Harlow has been rubbing shoulders with the stars of global music as part of a charity album.

Musician and budding actor Prem Sharma, 39, who lives and grew up in Harlow, features on a charity album, which was released last month called Global Music Unites.

The album was put together by the founder of SoulMusic Records and co-owner of SoulMusic.com, David Nathan.

The digital-only album was released through Cherry Red Records in the UK, under the banner Global Music Unites.

It brings together artists and musicians primarily from the US and UK to raise funds for three charities - SOS Villages in Zambia, Mission Direct (also working in Zambia) and The Hunger Project.

Net proceeds from the album will be donated to these three charities.

Prem told the Star: "I've always been fascinated with music. It's always been a great passion of mine and to be asked to be part of the album was amazing."

He added: "I've been performing since I was young - performing at The Square at the age of 15."

Over the past 25 years, former Stewards School pupil

Prem, who uses the name Rich Beggar, has established himself as a hip-hop lyricist, singer, songwriter, live performer, aspiring actor and radio personality.

He has appeared numerous times as a guest artist interviewee and talk panellist for various stations such as BBC, Radio1, BBC Asian Network and Club Asia. He even won over the ears of Jazz FM listeners.

Aside from radio, since 1989 Prem also has been an accomplished singer, songwriter, rapper and live performer and has made several recordings in various genres.

Prem also appeared the BAFTA nominated film Shifty in 2009 and recorded a song under his musician name, Rich Beggar, for the Shifty soundtrack.

He added: "I can't believe we completed it on such a small budget even adverts get more than what we did!"

>>>The album can be purchased online for £7.99 from iTunes at <https://itunes.apple.com/gb/album/global-music-unites/id85371022>.

Performers show dramatic strengths

EMERGING from under a pile of rags on an Eastern European railway platform, the eponymous wanderer recounts his harsh life story in full and frank detail.

And what a life! A homeless gypsy hounded from country-to-country, living off his wits, agility and the support of his true love, Nadia, he faces all obstacles with indomitable guile and bravery - even when that love is ripped from his side in an act of unspeakable brutality.

As the ever-resourceful Milan, John Childs gave a towering performance, conveying both great strength and sensitivity as he related the character's gruelling past in brutally honest detail.

Translator Michael Branwell's skilful and effective direction set the action on a virtually bare floor space with few props. Just as Milan must live off what he can find for himself, so Childs drew on his own strength and talent to describe the character's tragic journey.

It was a mesmerising performance, ably supported by Carys Sullivan as the sweet-voiced Nadia - raped and murdered by marauding troops, she provided a ghostly backdrop to Milan's reminiscing - and composer/musician Les Sullivan, whose sensitive guitar work and haunting vocals added even greater depth to the production.

Travelling Man was written by Austrian actress/playwright Veronika Pernthaner who, on her first visit to England, was in the audience for this English language premiere of her powerful work.

The sombre atmosphere was initially relieved by the second play, On The Bridge by 19th century Bohemian writer Vaclav Kliment Klicpera, a satirist known for his ridicule of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

Translated by Michael Branwell and directed by Henrietta Branwell, the play starts off in a humorous tone as it sets a group of citizens on a bridge linking two war-torn communities. The bridge is guarded at either end by jobsworth soldiers (Geoffrey Leeds and Michael Rees) who allow pass-holders on to the bridge - but won't let them off once they get to the other side.

But the humour fades as the ridiculous stalemate sees five linked characters effectively imprisoned on the bridge and in terrible danger as artillery fire booms all around them. At first, these characters squabble and harangue one another over various personal grievances. But as they become increasingly frightened by their dangerous situation, they cling to one another and eventually become reconciled.

As the five, Kerry Rowland, Adam Sabatti, Dan Powell, Claire Quiley and Michael Branwell were forthright and convincing as innocents caught up in a desperate situation they have no way of controlling.

It's only when a colonel from the winning side (Sebastian Ellison) turns up that the five trapped citizens are allowed off the bridge - warfare has actually saved them and resolved their personal hostilities.

This bold and innovative double production highlighted the human condition in all its strengths and weaknesses, giving the Players the opportunity to display their considerable dramatic strengths.

As You Like It

• Harlow Theatre Company
• Victoria Hall Theatre, Old Harlow

• IT'S never an easy feat to perform something that has been done so many times in so many different ways - it's even harder when it is Shakespeare.

• But Harlow Theatre Company's As You Like It was a fantastic performance that showcased the very best of the town's talent.

• The bard is renowned for his use of language and director Jane Miles remained true to the playwright's writing.

• Praise must go to all 13 cast members who evoked emotion and passion into their words, which is exactly what you want when watching Shakespeare.

• As You Like It was a vivid reminder of why the pastoral comedy is so popular and reinforces why Harlow Theatre Company is considered a jewel in the town's arts crown.

• Joe Bishop as the lovestruck Orlando was confident and self-assured in his performance and was the perfect lead. Orlando's beloved, the fair Rosalind, was played by the wonderful Pamela Self-Pierson who really shone when being banished by her uncle the Duke - striking the perfect balance between fear and incredulous anger.

• Touchstone was played by the talented Paul Johnson, a fantastic actor who gave the character the right amount of pompous energy and exuberant wit to keep audiences completely enthralled whenever he was on stage.

• Special mention must also be given to Mitch Rous as Jacques.

• He took on the famous 'All the world's a stage...' soliloquy and it was absolutely mesmerising.

• It was one of the stand out moments of the entire performance.

Look out for butterflies

SINCE creating a meadow area in his own back garden three years ago, Sir David Attenborough has enjoyed an influx of wildlife and is this year hoping to see a wide range of butterflies visiting it.

"I have an area of meadow turf with a mown lawn walkway which winds its way through it and I see a number of different butterflies – meadow browns, cabbage whites and occasionally tortoiseshells. I haven't seen a red admiral for a number of years though, but I used to."

As president of the charity Butterfly Conservation, Sir David, pictured, will be taking part in this year's Big Butterfly Count, in which members of the public are asked to report sightings to give the charity a clearer picture of the nation's butterflies. This, in turn, gives us a view of the state of the countryside as a whole.

Garden favourite the small tortoiseshell enjoyed its best year for a decade last summer, while peacocks, small and large white also had good years, but migrants including red admirals and painted lady struggled.

"The count helps us a great deal," says Sir David. "It provides a recognition chart from a scientifically accurate, huge army of observers whose results can give you all kinds of important information."

"What we know is that last year was a good year for butterflies in that a lot of species came back or increased in numbers, but the decline in British butterflies is still going on. Last year was an optimistic blip."

By Hannah Stephenson

Three quarters of the UK's butterflies are in decline and one third are in danger of extinction, according to the charity.

"This is bad news for butterflies and it is bad news for the UK's birds, bees, bats and other wildlife. Butterflies are a key indicator species of the health of our environment – if they are struggling, then many other species are struggling also," says Sir David.

"Butterflies are pollinators, pollinating the countryside. To have pollinators in the countryside means you have a healthy and renewing countryside. If you lose them, you will lose a great deal."

Butterfly numbers have declined because the numbers of wild places left in the countryside have diminished as agriculture has become more efficient, he says.

"But if you put together all our suburban gardens, they form a huge area in the British landscape and they can help replace those wild places that agriculture has taken over."

He says gardeners can all do their bit to help butterflies. "Gardeners can take a small patch of their cultivated, cosseted garden to go wild. You may not like nettles or brambles, but they provide food for quite a range of butterflies."

Plants including buddleia, Verbena bonariensis, lavender, perennial wallflowers and marjoram are all magnets for butterflies. Other plants which attract them include hebes, Michaelmas daisies, cosmos, phlox, pinks and heleniums.

Choose sunny, sheltered spots to plant nectar-rich flowers and try to provide flowers right through the butterfly season. Spring flowers are vital for butterflies coming out of hibernation while autumn flowers help butterflies build up their reserves for winter.

UK butterflies rallied last summer following their worst year on record but numbers were still below average.

Dr Tom Brereton, head of monitoring at Butterfly Conservation, says: "The recovery of butterflies in 2013 was highly welcome but there is still a long way to go before butterflies return to former glories."

"Our ongoing monitoring efforts will be vital in assessing whether we are on track to reverse butterfly declines and rebuild a healthy countryside."

DAWN OF THE PLANET OF THE APES certificate 12A, 2h10m

Blending state-of-the-art special effects with an intelligent script, Dawn Of The Planet Of The Apes conjures two hours of animal magic that looks set to be crowned king of the blockbuster swingers.

Tim Burton's abortive Planet Of The Apes is now a distant memory thanks to the 2011 revamp Rise Of The Planet Of The Apes and this superior sequel, which pushes the art of motion-capture performance to new limits.

Andy Serkis' exemplary work as Caesar, the super-intelligent chimpanzee who leads the ape uprising, is the film's emotional heartbeat.

His ability to convey the character's rage, despair and passion through movement and subtle gesture is breathtaking.

Toby Kebbell is also compelling as Caesar's war-mongering rival, who believes the key to his species' survival is the extermination of humans.

Mark Bomback, Rick Jaffa and Amanda Silver's script elegantly draws parallels between the feuding primates, juxtaposing tender scenes of parenting with bruising skirmishes that create divisions on both sides.

Ten winters have passed since simian flu ravaged the globe. In the absence of law and order, basic resources such as water, food and electricity are dangerously depleted.

One-time military man Dreyfus (Gary Oldman), who lost his entire family to the virus, leads survivors of the ALZ-113 virus in San Francisco.

He despatches a team led by family man Malcolm (Jason Clarke) to access the O'Shaughnessy Dam, which provides the city with electricity.

In the forest that envelops the dam, the scouting party encounters apes led by Caesar, including his ambitious second-in-command Koba (Kebbell), impetuous son Blue Eyes (Nick Thurston) and Bornean orangutan Maurice (Karin Konoval).

Malcolm's trigger-happy compatriot Carver (Kirk Acevedo) shoots one of the apes and the humans are banished to their stronghold.

Once Dreyfus learns about the neighbouring ape community, he asks Malcolm and co to refrain from telling the other survivors.

Malcolm realises that he must earn Caesar's trust to gain access to the dam so he prepares to return to the forest with wife Ellie (Keri Russell) and teenage son Alexander (Kodi Smith-McPhee).

Dawn Of The Planet Of The Apes is a slick thrill ride with brains as well as brawn.

The grim mood, which permeates the first half, leads to all-guns-blazing war and director Reeves orchestrates these brutal sequences with elan.

Digital effects are jaw-dropping, giving birth to a realistic army of blood-thirsty apes who cram every chaotic, blood-spattered frame.

The film's strong anti-gun message comes through loud and clear, but the appetite for destruction overpowers diplomacy.

"I always think ape better than humans," laments Caesar as his dream of lasting peace founders. "I see now how like them we are."

PUDSEY THE DOG: THE MOVIE certificate PG 1h27m

IN this big-screen outing for the Britain's Got Talent winner, stray dog Pudsey (voiced by David Walliams) crosses paths with siblings Molly (Izzy Meikle-Small), George (Spike White) and Tommy (Malachy Knights), who are poised to move from London "to some stupid cottage without WiFi" with their mother Gail (Jessica Hynes).

The eponymous mutt stows away in the family's removal trailer and is discovered when they arrive at their new home in the sleepy village of Chuffington.

While Gail placates scheming landlord Mr Thorne (John Sessions), who hates dogs, Pudsey befriends horses Nelly (Olivia Colman) and Edward (Peter Serafinowicz) and a pig called Ken (Dan Farrell), who thinks he's a chicken. Viewers of Simon Cowell's talent search will be well versed in Pudsey's ability to perform acrobatic feats with guidance from trainer Ashleigh Butler. On the big screen, he dances and twirls on hind legs and casts the occasional mournful glance at the camera.

"Julie Fitzgerald and Charlotte Nicholson are the driving force behind Adnams' presence at the show. Julie comments: "We are really looking forward to a busy couple of days and hopefully the weather will ensure a great turn out. We always enjoy chatting to people about all things Adnams and we've also got a seated area with Adnams deckchairs if visitors are looking for somewhere to take the weight off their feet and have a drink."

"Show shoppers will no doubt be tempted by the Adnams Beach Hut store, selling a range of Adnams merchandise, bottled beers and five litre mini-casks. New for this year are Adnams beach towels, hoodies and brollies – which we're hoping will be required as a parasol rather than because of the rain!"

The fourth Essex Chronicle Media Group Festival of Food and Drink is this weekend and there's plenty going on at the event on Saturday and Sunday for anyone who loves food and drink.

The festival celebrates the wonderful food and drink we have in Essex, East Anglia and further afield and gives you the chance to meet some of the producers, restaurateurs and chefs who live and work in the county.

We have three cookery theatres – The Main Stage theatre The Master Class Theatre and the Love Food Hate Waste and a great line up of celebrity and local chefs and experts creating delicious dishes that you can try at home. You will also have the chance to ask them questions as they cook and even taste some of their dishes.

There are more than 120 stands including speciality and artisan producers, Kids Cookery Classes, baking master classes, BBQ cooking, cooking competitions, wine and beer tastings and the Great Essex Baking Competition.

New for 2014 is the "Only Way is Local" marquee sponsored by the Chelmsford star Co-operative Society - a whole host of local producers with tantalising food and drink from pates and pies to beers and honey and frozen yogurts to locally hand-made crisps

The open air food court with live music really gives the festival a fabulous summer vibe.

You will be spoilt for choice when it comes to what to eat and drink – there is an exciting menu of dishes featuring the best of the region's street food scene from French to Italian and South African to Spanish and wood fired pizzas to name a few.

Tracey Waples Property Editor

I agreed to show prospective buyers around a friend's home when she was on holiday last week.

I thought it might be a good experience for this column if nothing else. After all, how hard could it be?

All was going swimmingly until they asked me what the broadband speed was. I have no idea what my own is never mind someone else's and so I dutifully called my friend to interrupt her on the sun lounger. She knew precisely as much as I did.

The couple I was showing round looked exasperated and explained that it would be crucial. They were moving out of London and seemed to view Hertfordshire along the same broadband lines as Burkina Faso.

It brought home to me just how our relationship with the online world is now so entwined in our daily lives that it can even affect house prices. More and more of us are using the internet to work from home and when the working day is over, spend our leisure time on it, too. As a result we want fast connection speeds.

I did some research of my own and saw that earlier this year Rightmove added a speed checker to its property search results. Broadbandchoices.co.uk has found that one in five homebuyers have investigated broadband availability before they have even bothered to walk around the local area.

Connection speeds are now being ranked as more important than off-street parking, convenient shopping and a decent local pub. According to the experts, it has become such an issue that a property with a slow broadband connection can be worth as much as 20 per cent less than one with a good connection.

However, slow broadband can be boosted and it doesn't need to cost a fortune. Take a look at ruralbroadband.co.uk, for example, where there are numerous options that won't cost 20 per cent of your house price.

Barbara's Weekly Comment
"Working In Partnership with your Estate Agent"

I have been successfully helping people move home since the mid 1970's and continue to oversee all of Howick & Brooker's sales, knowing that it is not just about finding a buyer, but seeing the deal through to the day you collect the keys to your new home. Right now the market seems to find time delays for a number of reasons but the great reassurance you can take is that for all our vendors and future vendors we here at Howick & Brooker offer a comprehensive sales progression department.

So when the time comes to sell your home I urge you more than ever before to entrust your house sale to a reputable estate agent, so that the stress of selling is to be minimised.

The most successful sales I tend to see is where the seller and agent work hand in hand during the marketing process and here are some really helpful pointers that may be of use to you:

- 1) Be open with your agent about any problems with the property. Even if these cannot be solved, awareness of an issue could save a sale.
- 2) Ensure your agent is properly informed about which fixtures and fittings will be staying/going. (NB be careful with the terminology here: "staying with you" or "staying with the house"?)
- 3) Tell your agent if you have any direct buyer enquiries - It can avoid confusion over commission.
- 4) Ideally your agent should accompany all viewings, but if you show the buyers round yourself, immediately let your agent know how the viewing went, so he/she can follow-up appropriately.
- 5) Keep the house and garden clean and tidy at all times - you never know when you might get a short-notice viewing, or interested parties peering over the fence.
- 6) Aim to be as flexible as possible over viewing times and completion dates.
- 7) Agree to listen constructively to your agent's feedback and recommendations. As your selling agent, we share your objectives - to achieve the fastest sale at the highest possible price with minimum disruption to your lifestyle. So help us to help you.

After all - we're on your side!

Badge of distinction

■ MATT JOY

THERE'S a great deal that's new about the M4, not least the name. Previously you could have an M3 in coupe, saloon and convertible formats, but now the M3 is saloon only.

The M4 takes on the mantle as the coupe will be the most popular model by far. You get a stack of bespoke exterior parts to add menace as well as a bit of downforce and there's 85kg of weight saved over the old car with bits like the carbonfibre roof, strut brace and a lightweight driveshaft.

But the biggest news is under the bonnet. The naturally aspirated V8 has been binned in favour of a twin turbocharged six-cylinder unit for the first time on an M car. As usual, it's for the sake of efficiency: the new unit has more power and torque than the old car but emissions are down 26 per cent.

Looks and image

As you'd expect, the transformation to M4 brings with it some extra aggression. There are big air vents at the front, a deep chin spoiler, flared

Fact File

£58,295

ENGINE: 3.0-litre unit producing 425bhp
TRANSMISSION: 7-speed dual clutch driving rear wheels
PERFORMANCE: Top speed 155mph (limited), 0-62 in 4.1s
ECONOMY: 34mpg (combined)
CO² RATING: 194g/km

wheelarches and big wheels as standard, and the result is a terrific-looking thing from pretty much any angle.

Colour choice is another matter. The eye-catching metallic yellow shown here is certainly not for the faint-hearted, while more moderate shades provide a more stealthy look.

Space and practicality

The transformation to M4 gives almost nothing away to the standard car, so sadly you've got no excuse for leaving the loved ones behind in a haze of tyre smoke.

Up front, there are excellent sports seats, plenty of head and legroom even for taller drivers and you can fit adults in the back seats, too. The boot is also impressive with 445 litres, and sensibly it has a good luggage net to stop everything flying about – which it would otherwise most certainly do.

Behind the wheel

Like all the current M cars, the M4 gives you a multitude of options to play with, offering three settings for the engine, suspension, gearbox and steering.

With everything set to either

Comfort or Efficiency, the M4 does a pretty convincing impression of a bog-standard 4 Series.

It rides well and is quiet, bar the odd growl from the engine when you poke it. But frankly, that's a waste of a performance car.

Turn everything up to the middle sport mode and instantly it feels more alert.

Squeeze the throttle and the response is instant, that turbocharged engine offering up strong torque regardless of engine revs, and there's a pleasing metallic note from the exhaust thanks to some clever electronic enhancement.

Push the M4 hard and the grip is hugely impressive, the optional carbon ceramic brakes very strong and its overall composure superb. It's a genuine M car, no doubt.

Value for money

Compared to the outgoing car, the M4 has had a notable upgrade in the amount of standard kit. You now get 19-inch wheels, Xenon headlights, the adaptive M suspension and things like folding electric mirrors as standard where previously they were options.

That's not to say you can't go a bit nuts with the options; the desirable carbon ceramic brakes are £6,250 but the M Laptimer app is free to download at least.

Who would buy one

There are two main types of people that will want an M4 on their driveway.

Firstly there are the enthusiasts who know the history of the M cars and want a performance car that has motorsport links and can cut it on the track as well as on the road.

The other type are the badge snobs who want that M badge – and possibly one of the more eye-catching colours – to let everyone know they've arrived.

Mark is going to go in his new Fiat 500. The integrated sports styling kit totally appeals to the inner petrol-head – that's body-coloured side skirts, rear spoiler, and chrome exhaust, not to mention optional 16" alloy wheels, sports seats with bucket-buooy bolsters and dark tinted rear windows drive the point home. And the all-new 7" TFT crystal digital display gives him his best-fit TwinAir engine means low CO₂ emissions and no road tax*. Not from Headstrong, Hattori Garden, London.

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

SUPER STEEL: Josh Steel was the star player at an NBA training camp in Italy (s)

Steel shines at NBA camp ahead of Euro Champs

RISING basketball star Josh Steel was recognised as one of the top performers at a special NBA and FIBA camp in Italy for Europe's best young players.

Steel, of The Hoo in Harlow, attended the Basketball without Borders programme for the American basketball league in Rome.

The camp is organised jointly by the NBA and FIBA (the federation for international basketball) as a global development programme for the sport.

It is invite-only and features the most talented players in Europe, born in 1997 or later.

Steel, who plays for Barking Abbey, was among 20 players who featured in an all star game.

"Josh has put himself in a group that shows he is one of the best players in his age group in Europe," said Lloyd Gardner, Barking Abbey's Director of Basketball.

"He has a bright future and hopefully this will be a big confidence boost for him as he prepares for this summer's European Championships.

Steel was in the England U-18 squad which played in a tournament in Italy in Brindisi.

He was the top England scorer with 10 points as injury-hit England lost their final match 75-31 to Greece, rounding off a poor tournament.

Earlier, Steel scored 12 points to top score when England lost 66-51 to the hosts.

There was only four points in it at half-time, but Italy dominated the last two quarters to put daylight between the two sides.

Their first game saw England lose 77-63 to Israel.

A superb open court dunk by Steel gave England a 23-13 lead into the first break, but Israel fought back to win.

Steel is also set to play against Spain today (July 17) before taking his place in the final 12-man England squad which will head to the Division A European Championships on July 24.

Coach's frustration over lack of youth league numbers

COACH Steve Lott voiced his frustration over lack of numbers after Harlow Athletic Club competed in the Eastern Young Athletics League meeting at Braintree on Sunday.

Despite the changeable weather there were some strong performances, despite missing some top, young athletes.

Lott said: "It is frustrating that we don't seem to be able to get athletes out consistently.

"On today's evidence and past weeks we have the potential to be a formidable team and certainly we are now bringing athletes through who make our senior teams stronger.

"The hard work is paying dividends and thanks must be paid to the coaches and the supporting team of helpers responsible for putting in place the foundations to build from."

Evan Conboy (U-13) ran a strong 800m to finish fourth in the seven-team event.

In the same age group Zoe Rutter took third in the girls' U-13 1,500m, while Lottie Rowedder claimed third in the U-15 girls' 1,500m A race and club debutant Elidh Malcolm took third in the B race.

In the boys' U-15s, 800m newcomer Sam Law was third in the B race, while Christian Barker was third in the U-15 A 1,500m.

There were good performances in the field too: Ed Broad made a welcome return to club athletics and was second in the U-15 javelin, his first event since stepping up in age group and a result that puts him in the top 20 nationally.

Kieran Bull won the U-15 A discus with 26.35m, close to his PB in worsening weather conditions.

Lauren Barker made her U-15 debut in the shot, throwing the heavier implement just over seven metres.

There were also personal bests in short track events for Teale Cunningham (14.2s) in the 80m hurdles, and Jordan Sheridan (26.6s) in the 200m.

Perhaps the most notable results came in the U-17 age group. Although there were only three Harlow athletes, their performances were impressive.

Donald Campbell was only just off PB pace in the 1,500m.

Will Marklew, who competed in the English National Schools Championships on Saturday, showed no fatigue as he collected first in the javelin and B long jump and second in the high jump.

Bryn Thorpe, making his youth league debut, won the A long jump and was second in the 100m hurdles. This was made more remarkable as the race had to be re-run, as the hurdles had been placed on the wrong marks, and his second time was even quicker!

Bumper crowd leaves Rye Rocket Bowen beaming

SAM Masters and Justin Sedgmen triumphed to take the honours in the best pairs competition at Harlow's Luke Bowen's testimonial meeting at Hoddesdon on Sunday.

Scored on a 4-3-2-0 basis, the Edinburgh duo secured the winner-takes-all final 7-2 over former Rocket Anders Mellgren and Leigh Lanham.

Masters worked his way through the field to join Sedgmen at the front just before Mellgren took a tumble on the third lap that caused the race to be awarded.

But the day was all about former Mark Hall School pupil Bowen, and he teamed up with fellow Rocket Steve Boxall to register a 15 point haul.

However, they weren't helped when Boxall suffered a nasty gash to his right hand in a Heat 14 crash.

Referee Dave Robinson sportingly allowed the double tactical ride to take effect – and reserves Marc Owen and Benji Compton had to each fill in for one of Boxall's outings.

There was a bumper turnout for the event, dubbed 'Luke's 10 Year Take Off', as the rain luckily stayed away.

A beaming Bowen, who commented that "having a testimonial at 28 is making me feel old" was delighted with the way everything had gone.

"It all went really well," he said.

"There was some exciting racing, with it all going down to the wire, and I guess as Sedgmen and Masters are from the league's top team it's fair play to them that they won.

"I had a lot of other things on my mind, but I really enjoyed my races."

Supporters were thrilled as local rally ace Alex Papottas took to the track in his car and did a couple of laps – and then raced and lost to Bowen!

"He's a good friend of mine and I think it was just something a bit different for the crowd.

"The old boys races featuring my mechanic Alan Mogridge and Stefan Ekberg were also good fun.

"I'd like to thank everyone for coming along and help making it a success – especially the riders.

"I hope I've still got a lot of years of racing in front of me."

SUCCESS: The Harlow Gymnastics Club members (s)

Gymnast has got the Bec's factor

GOLDEN girl Rebecca Porter (13) shone for Harlow Gymnastics Club at the Pipers Vale Pearls competition in Ipswich, Suffolk.

Rebecca's outstanding performance was rewarded with gold medals for vault and asymmetric bars in the 12+ intermediate event.

She also placed sixth on beam and finished in a commendable fourth place overall.

The competition attracted entrants from top clubs all over the Eastern region as well as gymnasts from Cheshire, Nottinghamshire and North Wales.

Also in the 12+ intermediate event, Millie Chinnery (12) was fifth on asymmetric bars and finished in 11th place overall.

Heskett in four-midable form while thirds stay unbeaten

THERE were victories for Harlow's first and third teams in the Shepherd Neame Essex Cricket League on Saturday.

The thirds are enjoying a fantastic season and remain unbeaten after a victory over second-placed Southend in division one.

Having won the toss Southend were asked to bat and almost immediately were in trouble.

At 25-5 the end of the innings looked to be over sooner rather than later, however a sixth-wicket stand of 93 bought the score up to respectability.

There then followed a further collapse and the innings ended on 126 all out (Soulet Ali 6-25, Naem 4-28).

In response, Harlow batted well within themselves, chasing the total down with 16 overs remaining for the loss of five wickets (Amir Farooq 45 not out).

Harlow are now 35 points clear at the top of division one and in pole position to achieve back to back promotions.

Harlow's first team (157-2) crushed Ardleigh Green (153) by eight wickets in division one.

It was their second successive victory.

Luke Heskett was the hero with the ball, taking four wickets, including all of the top three.

Harlow needed just 15.4 overs to reach the winning target.

Harlow twos were beaten at Hornchurch by three wickets.

Having lost what proved to be a decisive toss, Harlow were put in to bat by hosts Hornchurch on a slow, wet wicket.

Losing wickets at regular intervals, Harlow posted an under par total of 123 all out.

Harlow were unable to make the most of the bowler-friendly conditions during the Hornchurch innings, with the hosts reaching the target for the loss of seven wickets.

Connor Ramsey was the pick of the bowlers, taking 5-27.

This result sent Harlow to the bottom of division one.

Harlow's fourth team are back on top of the table again after a nail-biting three-wicket win over Horndon-on-the-Hill.

After winning the toss and bowling first, Harlow restricted Horndon to 124 all out.

Pick of the bowlers were Simon Jones and Kyle Farmer with three wickets each.

On a tricky pitch, the top scorer of the day was Biju Mathew (28), which included two sixes out of the ground.

George Messenger adapted this positive approach and also hit two sixes as Harlow edged closer to the small total.

It was left to Simon Jones (10 not out) and Sarwat Ali (6 not out) to guide Harlow home and claim the 20 points.

Harlow finished on 126-7.

Captain delivers vital win as Town bounce back

HARLOW Town bounced back from last week's defeat to convincingly beat Old Brentwoods by 42 runs at home in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Skipper Ashley Alderson, right, lost the toss and with the overnight rain it was not surprising that Town were asked to bat.

The captain opened the batting with regular opener Shiraz Ali.

With the ball zipping around early on, the pair did well to take the score to 47 before Alderson (25) was caught trying to up the rate.

Bilal (16) and Shiraz (28) both battled well before Ramya Upadhyay (61 not out) played the key innings to make sure the Town posted a respectable if somewhat light 198 from their 50 overs.

A quickfire 16 from Shaun Alderson, including the only six of the day, off nine balls ensured the innings finished positively for the Town.

Dan Calver (3-23 from 10) and Mohammed Ali (1-16 off seven) bowled with control and, assisted by a silly run out early on, quickly reduced the visitors to 22-5 inside 11 overs.

However, K Sarwar (81) and Shahid Iqbal (13) put 62 on for the sixth wicket.

Iqbal departed and Lemuel English (20) joined Sarwar and the pair took the score to 145 looking untroubled.

The Town captain risked his injured back by bowling and this paid dividends when he removed Sarwar and then English before taking the final wicket in his sixth over, finishing with 3-24.

Dan Farmer supported his skipper well in his return spell and picked up the other wicket.

Alderson said: "It was personally very frustrating missing last week's game and we put pressure on ourselves after a very poor performance so it was important we got back to winning ways as soon as possible. I thought we were excellent in the field today, all the bowlers did their job and the two run outs proved we were really up for the game. Ramya batted sensibly and made sure we posted a decent total but having said that it was a very gettable one. It was a very satisfying win against good opposition."

Town remain top and host Basildon & Pitsea CC next week and still have a game in hand over Stanford-le-Hope who also won.

Harlow Town's second XI travelled to Old Brentwoods, who amassed a formidable 312-5 with Ashad Khan scoring 168 including an amazing 20 sixes.

In reply, Charlie Coleman and Scott Alderson mounted an outstanding counter-attack, putting on 158 for the fourth wicket.

When both were finally dismissed Town had reached 283-5 in just 37 overs and required just 30 runs from the last 10 overs of the match.

Tom Wilcox and Alfie Elston saw Town home in 41.5 overs, as they posted 313-6 to win by four wickets.

HTCC's third XI hosted bottom of the table Brentwood IV looking to avoid a third straight defeat to reignite their promotion bid.

The Townies raced to 85 before losing the first wicket when Vic Goddard was caught at mid-wicket for 35.

A second-wicket stand of 80 between Johan Cloete (103) and Brendon Maclean (28) took the score to 165.

Town eventually finished on 225-6.

In response, the visitors were 133-8 when century man Cloete was introduced to the attack.

He took the final two wickets in two balls to end the dogged resistance of Brentwood and seal the 25 points.

Cloete ended with three wickets for just 10 runs off his 3.2 overs.

Tristan Rees (3-14 off nine overs) and Vic Goddard (2-12 off eight overs) also took wickets.

The fourth XI travelled to Hainault & Clayhall for a tough fixture against a very good side.

Hainault declared on 259-4 from just 40 overs.

Town never really threatened the total but picked up a couple of bonus points on the way to 155 all out, falling a few overs short of holding out for the draw.

The ageless Paul Smith notched up another 50 and Sreerag Radhakrishnan made a solid 47 in his first outing of the season.

England debut for silver star Naomi

NAOMI Harryman will make her England debut in a home international at Cardiff this Saturday - after securing a silver medal at the English Schools Championships.

The 16-year-old St Mark's pupil represented Essex for the first time in the English Schools at Birmingham.

Competing in the Inter Girls' long jump Naomi produced a jump of 5.76 metres, just two centimetres behind the winner Simi Fajemisin, who is ranked number one in the UK.

West Essex Schools team manager John Stow said: "Naomi is quite clearly following in the footsteps of Denise Lewis and Jessica Ennis-Hill and in years to come I can see this youngster competing for Team GB in a future Olympics."

Meanwhile, Canaan Solomon (15), a Mark Hall student, also represented Essex at these championships.

After placing fourth last year in the Junior Boys' 1,500m final, Canaan stepped up an age group to the Inter Boys and just missed out making the final this time running 4 mins 06.1 seconds in a tactical race.

Meanwhile, Harlow Athletic Club member Dave Bauer competed at the Lee Valley Athletic Centre, North London in the last Eastern Veterans League meeting in hot and humid conditions.

He was representing Chelmsford AC. Bauer threw a very good 35.92m in the hammer for first place.

In the shot put, he threw 10.53m, which was good enough for first place.

Finally Bauer competed in the discus.

"The meeting was running behind by some 30 minutes which meant we were still throwing at 9.15pm," said Bauer.

"It was worth it in the end as I threw a big season's best of 40.29 metres for first place."

This maintained his position as fifth in the UK in the men's 45 age group.

Bauer added: "It's great to be throwing 40 metres again as I couldn't manage it last year."

A full round-up of Harlow Athletic Club's Southern League meetings can be found online and in next week's Star.

Harlow duo making progress at Gunners soccer school

TWO talented Harlow footballers are making huge progress at Arsenal Soccer Schools.

Benjamin Munday and Will Pritchard are students of the Arsenal development centre, based at Passmore Academy in Harlow.

They were given the chance to shine when they represented Arsenal Soccer Schools in matches against the Chelsea and Norwich FC elite development centres.

Benjamin and Will are part of Arsenal's advanced training programme.

The programme offers players of the highest standard the opportunity to travel to high class youth football facilities such as those at the Chelsea and Norwich academies, and allows the players to test their skill against some of the best development squads in the country.

The Arsenal Soccer School squad performed well against Chelsea but struggled to finish their chances with the two matches they played ending in a 1-0 defeat and a 3-0 defeat.

However Benjamin, Will and the rest of the U-10 squad turned in a far sharper performance when they travelled to Norwich.

Although the opening stages of both matches were tight, Arsenal Soccer Schools proved to be too strong for Norwich in the end, with the first match finishing 6-3 to Arsenal and the second match finishing 6-1, once more to Arsenal.

"I was extremely pleased with all of the boys that took part," said Simon Blundell head of Arsenal Soccer School's Essex development centre.

"They played some outstanding football against some really high class opposition and I hope that they continue to work just as hard as they have been."

Arsenal Soccer Schools are holding their three-day holiday camp at Passmore Academy from August 18-20. Visit www.playthearsenalway.com for more information.

Morris at heart of changes for Wimbledon star Nick

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT has certainly been a busy time for Harlow tennis supremo John Morris, as he accompanied new Wimbledon sensation Nick Kyrgios back to Australia.

Kyrgios was mobbed by hundreds of fans who turned up at Canberra Airport to cheer the 19-year-old on his triumphant return to his native country.

Morris (32), of Ram Gorse, is manager of the player who caused a massive upset when he knocked multi-Grand Slam winning champion Rafa Nadal out of this year's tournament.

Kyrgios has decided to change coaches to allow him to spend more time at home in Canberra.

However, Morris remains his manager and will be overseeing his preparations for the hard court season when the Aussie is expected to make a similar impact to that which saw him reach the Wimbledon quarter-finals, catapulting him up the ATP world rankings.

Kyrgios had been training at Gosling Park in Hertfordshire, which is where Morris is based for most of the year, and was coached by Simon Rea.

But the Aussie will now head back down under and will be coached by Todd Larkham and Josh Eagle in Canberra.

Morris explained: "I'm still Nick's manager and will continue in that role. Once Nick decided on a coaching change we discussed who he would like to work with, then it was up to me to set the wheels in motion and go about bringing in the people we both had in mind.

"Of course with two coaches in the team it will reduce or even erase the weeks he will be without a coach which were the weeks I would jump in and coach, but I'm more than happy managing Nick and the team going forwards and am happy we have got this sorted swiftly so that Nick is unaffected when it comes to his training which he will start again on Tuesday (July 15).

"Things have been manic here since we arrived back, there were over 300 people waiting to greet him at Canberra Airport as well as TV crews wanting interviews. It will be a big and drastic change for him what with the financial change too and new sponsors wishing to be involved but the key here is that he focuses on his tennis and continues to improve and that's down to me to get that balance right, which I will because the tennis is the priority no question."

Kyrgios earned £226,000 in prize money for reaching the last eight at SW19, just missing out on the semifinals when he went down in four sets to Canadian Milos Raonic.

Morris, who has been away from his family while he helps his young protégé in Australia, continued: "Nick's next event will be the ATP 1000 event in Toronto followed by Cincinnati and then I'll head home for a week as it's my mum's 60th and then I'll meet him in New York just before the US Open.

"After the Open Nick will play for Australia in the Davis Cup in Cottesloe in Perth and then we will see where he is physically on the rest of the year.

"A busy time but an exciting time too."

Morris is also manager of Aljaz Bedene, who is trying to switch nationalities to represent Britain.

"On top of Nick's great success Aljaz Bedene won an ATP Challenger in the second week of Wimbledon too, which is great as he's been out injured for a while and struggled for form, so to see him switch from the grass to the clay and win was great for him and his confidence," added Morris.

"On a side note our GTC Nike International at Queenswood School has started, with the qualifying under way and the main draw due to start on Monday. It's an U-14 Tennis Europe event and an U-18 ITF event for both boys and girls. I have dedicated the trophy to my old coach and mentor Dill Charles, who was a massive influence on the sporting and tennis landscape in Harlow and someone who would have loved to have been involved in such an event as he was so dedicated to the development of tennis in youngsters. I just wish he was alive to see it all."

Tennis club team lose at finals day

HARLOW Tennis Club's men's third team played at Cranston Park in the annual Essex League Junior Cup finals day against Spring Lane I.

Tom Foxon, Fred Lloyd, Robert Budzynski and Richard Stingemore represented Harlow.

Foxon and Lloyd beat Spring Lane's second pair and won 6-2, 7-6.

Budzynski and Stingemore lost their match 0-6, 4-6.

In the reverse rubbers Foxon and Lloyd lost to the Spring Lane first pair 3-6, 6-7 after being up in both sets.

In the other match Budzynski and Stingemore upped their game and pushed but lost in a tie break in the first set (7-4). In the second set the Harlow pair rallied and comfortably won the second set 6-1 before losing the deciding championship tie break 10-8.

It meant Harlow lost 3-1 overall.

Cowley's Euro pain as England suffer semi-final defeat

GABRIELLA Cowley came home empty-handed from the European Ladies Amateur Team Championships, but can be proud after a series of excellent performance as England only narrowly miss out on a medal.

The 18-year-old Harlow golfer played well in the qualifying period as England dominated in a competition, held in Slovenia, involving 120 players from 21 countries.

Moving on to the matchplay knock-out she won matches as England progressed in the last four.

Competing at the Ljubljana Golf & Country Club in the Slovenian capital, Cowley and her England team knocked out Italy, but lost to eventual winners France in the semi-final.

In the bronze medal play-off match, England lost 1.5 points to 5.5 to Switzerland.

Cowley, of Threshers Barn, played one match on Saturday after five days of gruelling strokeplay and matchplay.

She lost by one hole to Cylia Damerau.

In the semi-final match on Friday, Cowley played two matches in the 4-3 loss to France.

She partnered Bronte Law in the first match and they gave England a great start, winning 4&2 against the France pairing of Celine Boutier and Shannon Aubert.

But Cowley lost heavily in her second match, going down 6&5 against Emma Broze.

Narrow defeats in the last two singles matches for Charlotte Thomas and Hayley Davis turned a 3-2 lead into a 4-3 loss as France marched into the gold medal match, which they won by beating Finland.

England had earlier beaten Italy.

Cowley played Italy's Arianna Scaletti in a singles match, which she won convincingly 4&3.

Cowley and Law played in a match, which went to four extra holes before they lost at the 22nd hole to Bianca Maria Fabrizio and Roberta Liti.

The match overall was tied at 3-3 but Davis beat Fabrizio at the first extra hole to give England a 4-3 win overall.

Cowley was in 30th place out of more than 100 golfers competing in the English Women's Amateur Championships at St Enodoc Golf Club in Cornwall when the Star went to press yesterday (Wednesday).

She shot a 77 on Tuesday and was six over after nine holes.

This left her on 12 over par and close to not making the cut for the final two days of the tournament, which ends Friday.

Time right for Osagie to silence doubters

Medal 'the goal' at Commonwealths and Euro Champs

HARLOW'S GREAT HOPE:
Andrew Osagie

ANDREW Osagie's coach Craig Winrow has backed his man to silence his critics and make sure August ends with his title as Britain's best 800m runner firmly cemented.

Winrow says 26-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member Osagie will be targeting a medal at both the Commonwealth Games, which start in Glasgow next week, and the European Championships in Zurich, Switzerland, starting on August 12.

Dogged by a hamstring injury which cost him his British Championships title in Birmingham nearly a fortnight ago, but former Burnt Mill School pupil Osagie has been working hard to hit his peak as he heads into a massive month.

Osagie will join the likes of Dwain Chambers and Dai Greene at the Europeans, after being called up by British Athletics on Tuesday, alongside main rival Michael Rimmer, as Mukhtar Mohammed missed out.

Winrow, who trains Osagie at their base in London, said: "It was not a surprise, he's still the best in Britain. At the British Championships he had a problem with his hamstring. The result was not ideal but we have gone over that over the last week and he has progressed."

But first Osagie will represent England when he takes on some of the world's greatest 800m runners, including World Record holder and London 2012 Olympic Games gold medalist, Kenyan David Rudisha.

Winrow says the Commonwealth Games will be no harder than the Europeans in terms of winning a medal, despite the appearance of Rudisha, widely acclaimed as the greatest 800m runner of all time.

Winrow said: "Rudisha and [Nijel] Amos will be at the Commonwealths, but at the Europeans you have the two Polish guys [Adam Kszczot and Marcin Lewandowski], the Frenchman [Pierre-Ambroise Bosse] and the Spaniard [Kevin Lopez]. They have had 1.44 [one minute 44 seconds times], so it will be just as difficult."

When quizzed whether Osagie can bring home a medal from either of the championships, Winrow said: "That's our goal - that's what we want. The preparation has not gone as we would have liked. He has got to try and prepare to the best of his ability. That's all he can do."

The Kenyans, Ethiopians and Botswana runner Amos are expected to dominate the Commonwealths.

Osagie has only competed in the Commonwealths once before, and that was when he finished ninth in the semi-final in Delhi, India four years ago.

However, he will be roared on by a huge crowd, evoking memories of his brilliant performance in the 800m final in London two years ago, when he clocked a career best 1.43 at the Olympic Games.

Winrow does not think Rudisha will have it all his own way this time. "Rudisha has been out a year. He has not been the same as he was in 2012," he said.

The key for Osagie is overcoming his hamstring injury.

Winrow explained: "Rehabilitation has made him stronger. There was a little bit of a flare-up, and that's nothing new."

Osagie will compete in the Diamond League at Monaco tomorrow (Friday) as he prepares for the Commonwealth Games, and this will give a strong indication as to whether the athlete, from Northbrook in Harlow, can find that extra gear needed to find the form that made him a household name two years ago.

Knight's time arrives as Hawks make ex-player new assistant boss

HARLOW Town boss Danny Chapman has appointed former Hawks player Spencer Knight as his new assistant.

Knight, who can play on the left, played for Harlow during the 2009/10 campaign.

He has also played for St Albans City and Chelmsford City, and also assisted Nicky Ironton on the coaching staff at Ware.

Chapman said: "Even though we did well last season I feel things needed freshening up. "He scouted for Brentford last season and he is someone I can trust."

Knight had an Achilles operation recently. Chapman said: "I will sign him as a player but he will not be available until November."

Paul West-Hook served as assistant manager and physiotherapist last season, and Chapman wanted him to fulfil the latter role again.

Chapman explained: "Paul did a fantastic job for me. I just wanted him to concentrate on one role but because his work commitments have changed he cannot commit any more to the physio role full-time."

Chapman has appointed Ryan Jessey as his chief scout.

"He will be with us on matchdays but will be going to other games," Chapman said.

Harlow host Ryman premier side Enfield Town at The Harlow Arena tomorrow (Friday).

In their first friendly, Harlow thrashed Enfield 1893 6-0 at home through goals from Chinedu McKenzie (2), James Smith, Ben Hart, Joe Bennett and Michael Pindy.
